3.00 O'CLOCK P.M.

And the House having met,

The Honourable the Lieutenant Governor then entered the House and, being seated on the Throne, was pleased to open the Session by the following gracious speech:—

MR. SPEAKER AND MEMBERS OF THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY:

As representatives and servants of Canada's most populated and progressive Province, we assemble for the Fourth Session of Ontario's Thirty-first Parliament with a clear mission for the new decade. Whatever the insecurities of the international scene, whatever the vagaries of fluctuating economic events and trends, we must ensure, with all the instruments at our disposal, the strength and security of our economy, the self-sufficiency and political independence of our nation, the well-being and prosperity of our people.

In so doing, we will not only strengthen the great promise of Ontario's future, but also contribute immeasurably to the economic and political integrity of Canada.

Ontarians expect that the new decade of the 1980s, while in many ways challenging, must also be one of assured opportunity. It must provide enhanced industrial and social development for communities in all parts of our province. It must strengthen the Province's capacity to furnish her citizens with the kind of lifestyle and freedom that comes from sound fiscal management and compassionate public policy.

Au cours des années quatre-vingt, ce sera non seulement au gouvernement mais à tous les Ontariens de s'engager à oeuvrer ensemble pour tirer le maximum de leurs ressources naturelles et humaines afin de créer des possibilités nouvelles qui leur permettront d'atteindre la sécurité recherchée.

The key to Ontario's continued prosperity through the 1980s lies in the mobilization of our technological strengths. My Government will direct the application of modern technology to best advantage, to build on our high achievements and to meet the challenges of the future in energy, transportation, communications, the environment and agriculture, as essential resource sectors of the economy, and the mainstay of a quality of life that is cherished by the people of this Province.

First and foremost, my Ministers believe that our capacity to sustain economic self-reliance for Canada, as for Ontario, will depend in large part on Ontario's ability to advance significantly toward greater energy security. As the largest consumer of energy in Canada, our responsibility to provide leadership is clear.

To this end, my Government will embark on an extensive and ambitious energy program for the 1980s, a principal objective of which will be to reduce our dependence on crude oil.

The most easily achieved and quickly deployed approach toward this goal is through energy conservation. The Government will, therefore, continue to promote province-wide conservation programs in the residential, commercial, industrial, agricultural and transportation sectors. Individual projects will involve a range of activities, from car and van pooling to the inclusion of commercial energy conservation standards in the Ontario Building Code.

With the overall Ontario energy bill for all uses by all segments of our society approaching eleven billion dollars a year, making Ontario more energy-efficient must be a shared commitment of all Ontarians. Every resident of our Province must be part of this effort to keep our economy and our future strong.

During this Session, a number of measures will be introduced to improve Ontario's security of energy supply. In particular, my Government will carry out initiatives in such areas as energy from waste, synthetic liquid fuel, co-generation, upgrading of heavy fuel oil, small hydro-electric developments and the full development of our nuclear power capability for industrial purposes. Specific activities, of which the Bruce Agripark, the Edwardsburgh methanol feasibility project and London's Victoria Hospital waste-based heating plant can be taken as examples, will be pursued by the Ministry of Energy. At the same time, greater reliance will be placed on natural gas and electricity as substitutes for petroleum products.

The Ontario Energy Corporation will be strengthened to implement a number of new business ventures. Subsidiary corporations will be established. These will focus specifically on future investment in such areas as energy resources, power-sharing, energy transportation and alternate energy.

The strategic importance of nuclear energy to Ontario cannot be overestimated. The superior qualities of the CANDU reactor and the experience and professionalism of Ontario Hydro's employees have combined to make our nuclear generating stations among the safest and most efficient in the world. From this firm base, Ontario will not hesitate to expand its nuclear capacity to guarantee the energy security of our people. In this context, my Government looks forward to receiving the final report of the Porter Commission on electric power planning during this Session.

The Government has always placed a priority on developing and maintaining the highest standards with respect to the health, safety and environmental aspects of nuclear energy. One of the keys to achieving these standards is to ensure that the public is more informed and has access to those responsible for regulating and supervising nuclear energy. Accordingly, Ontario will propose specific arrangements to the Federal Government for improvements in these provisions by responsible agencies.

Communications and transportation technology will play a dynamic role in our energy future, as well as in our overall economic position, in the coming decade.

By 1990, Ontario can be at the forefront of the communications and telecommunications industries through efforts based on structures and capacities already in place. Communications will replace much business travel, thus reducing energy-intensive transportation with energy-efficient and highly cost-effective communication links.

Specific measures to advance our communications technology will complement and encourage industrial initiatives. We will also seek to ensure the use of satellite communications and other forms of new technologies for private sector business and television services to link vast parts of Ontario in the media and information community of the 1980s.

It is a basic fact of life, however, that transportation cannot easily be removed, during the next decade, from its overwhelming dependence on crude oil. But dependency can be reduced through conservation and specific system and technology changes. Since the automobile will always be with us, Ontario will seek to ensure that its redesign, improvement and efficient use become a key priority of manufacturers and motorists in our province.

Further modifications to current practices must also be pursued. Electrification of GO train and other rail lines is being considered in a major feasibility study. In addition, we will proceed to apply the technology of the Urban Transit Development Corporation to a major transit project in the Hamilton region, for which engineering studies have already begun. My Ministers are pleased to record that the project has recently been assured Federal assistance. This new and efficient mode of transportation will also be available, through normal capital funding terms, to other large urban areas of the province.

Overall, we must ensure that there are options available to the people of Ontario during a time when the cost and availability of oil-related energy could be a strain on our provincial economy. For this reason, a task force is already in place to review the greater potential of rail transportation in this province, and a similar review of the potential of water transport on our Great Lakes and Seaway systems will soon be announced.

In summary, Ontario will seek to lead a full-scale energy initiative that combines responsibility, resolve and resources toward ensuring provincial and national security in the '80s.

It goes without saying that the fundamental changes implicit in a new energy horizon for Ontario will, necessarily, be present in the shaping of our economic future.

During last year's Session, steps were taken to establish the Employment Development Fund to stimulate, assist and strengthen appropriate industrial growth in Ontario. Significant accomplishments have already resulted from this important government initiative, the impact of which will be felt for many years to come. As a result, the program will be continued in the year ahead.

Further, Ontario will continue to give emphasis to the considerable benefits that can be derived from Canadians supporting Canadians. We will continue to promote the purchase of domestically produced goods and services through the "Shop Canadian" program. As well, particular efforts are already under way to demonstrate the gains that can be attained through greater harmonization of Canadian industrial policy and inter-provincial co-operation in purchasing practices. Measures to encourage such Canadian investment and ownership will be presented in the Ontario Budget this spring.

At the same time, Ontario will maintain its balanced approach to investments and industrial expansion. Thus, in addition to encouraging Canadian investment in our future, and greater participation in all aspects of the industrial enterprise, including managerial, research and development activities, we will welcome foreign investment from those who are willing to share these objectives and to serve the best interests of our country.

The Ontario Development Corporations will introduce a new program which will provide assistance to Canadian investors to purchase the Canadian operations of foreign-owned firms. Priority will be placed on proposed investments by management and employee groups.

It is clear that if real economic growth and human development are to be characteristic of the 1980s, we must find ways and means of combatting the serious inflationary trends that are currently under way. Since the causal factors of these trends are national and international in scale, corrective measures are not, to any significant degree, within the competence of this House. We must, nevertheless, do our part by acting in a restrained and fiscally responsible manner in respect of our own spending programs, while maintaining vigilance over the pricing of basic commodities and encouraging the growth of our productive capacity.

My Government is also convinced that, if we are to prosper as a nation, we must have the courage to follow more independent economic policies. In this regard, it is becoming increasingly evident that the overwhelming negative effects of the Federal Government's high interest rate policy are cancelling out the intended benefits. Canada, we believe, can have a more independent rate without imperiling our economic prospects. In fact, such a policy would enhance our economic performance and relieve the burden currently being placed on Canadian families and small businessmen.

Clearly, this is not an issue confined to Ontario, nor a concern of this Government only. It is a problem which is permeating the economic fabric of all parts of the country. My Government will, therefore, urge the Federal Government to re-examine its position on this vital national concern. We are prepared to participate constructively in discussions aimed at developing a new, vigorous and independent economic policy for Canada.

These steps are consistent with the realization that Ontario must be prepared to broaden and expand economic opportunities in the '80s. But while capital and technological resources are important elements of our economic action program, they can never be as important as Ontario's most valuable resource—her people.

Proper manpower development and deployment will be of the utmost importance as one of the cornerstones of a healthy and growing economy in the '80s. The key area of focus will be to produce sufficient numbers of skilled personnel from within our own workforce to meet the needs of the Ontario economy. This is one of the main objectives of the recently created Ontario Manpower Commission.

For this purpose, an amount of over five million dollars from the Employment Development Fund has been earmarked for the Ministry of Colleges and Universities to boost the Employer-Sponsored Training Program. Further skill training initiatives are planned, drawing on the support and expertise that already exist in the industrial sector of our province.

Solid labour-management relations and improved quality of life will be crucial to Ontario's economic expansion in the '80s. Measures will be introduced to amend The Ontario Labour Relations Act to assist in the achievement of these goals.

There is no greater source of untapped talent in Ontario today than that which exists among our female population. While the past decade has seen a new and sharper focus on this issue, and a number of initiatives have been taken by both government and the private sector to advance equality of opportunity, progress has been slower than acceptable. Increased emphasis will be given, therefore, to programs to ensure that the 1980s become a decade of accelerated advancement in this area.

A supporting communications program is planned to remind employers and employees of their obligations and rights under existing equal pay law.

The Government will set an example for the decade, through its affirmative action program for women Crown employees, which will call for the development of yearly government-wide targets to improve job opportunities and specific planning targets for women in all employment categories.

Research and development, which have helped advance Ontario to its present position of industrial pre-eminence in Canada, will be vital to building new areas of leadership in the '80s.

The Ontario Research Foundation remains an important interdisciplinary tool in shaping research-based economic opportunity for the future. Provincial support and funding of this organization will increase, and we will encourage further research and development activity through measures to be presented to this House.

In a new initiative, Ontario will establish a working group of private and public sector experts dealing with computer chip and micro-electronic technology, to ensure optimal benefit for the industries and people of Ontario from technological developments in this increasingly important area.

The next decade will see Ontario take particular steps to advance the economic gains made from exporting value-added goods and services. Measures to create an Ontario Export Development Corporation will be presented to Members during this Session. The Corporation will concentrate on the development of export markets for areas of Ontario industrial and technological leadership, including electrical generating capability, environmental treatment systems, urban transit, health care service design, telecommunications and capital equipment manufacturing.

The Province will advance a sustained international trade development campaign through the opening of new offices in the United States and the Far East, expanding the trade mission program, and broadening export support programs through the Ontario development Corporations.

A comprehensive small business program will be presented at this Session, emphasizing the critical role of small and intermediate business development to the fabric and durability of our economic base. An important aspect of this program will be an expanded role for the Ontario Development Corporations. Increases in the loan and guarantee limits will ensure that a broad range of small business projects have access to adequate financing and investment incentives.

Ontario will seek to intensify Ottawa's efforts to increase Canadian end-product opportunities among Canada's trading partners. The Province will also undertake an eight-year GATT adjustment program to assist Ontario manufacturing to adjust to new tariff and non-tariff changes now being phased in.

The Ministry of Industry and Tourism will develop approaches to assure the long-term health of the automotive industry in relation to the Canada-U.S. Auto Pact, the shift to lighter fuel-efficient vehicles, and import competition.

Demographic and economic changes will make tourism a vital and growing worldwide industry. A program for Ontario tourism development in the '80s will be presented this spring. It will feature a new focus on both domestic marketing and promotion in the European market.

A specific new initiative will be directed toward the marketing of Ontario's provincial parks as major tourist attractions. The Ministry of Natural Resources will work with the Ministry of Industry and Tourism to encourage vacation packages, combining the use of local dining and accommodation facilities with day visits to parks, thus bringing to many more visitors an appreciation of the heritage and enjoyment of the recreational advantages which our vast provincial parks system has to offer.

"Ontario North Now", a new exhibit at Ontario Place, offering a showcase of the lifestyle and amenities in Northern Ontario, will spark a greater awareness and sense of the northern economic, social and cultural fabric on the part of visitors. It will also illustrate to residents of Southern Ontario the vast economic opportunity and strategic importance of the North for the future of this Province.

The Quality of life in this Province, as reflected in part in our high environmental standards, must be maintained despite the quest for greater economic activity. The 1980s will be a period of further consolidation and strengthening of what is already one of the toughest environmental protection programs in North America.

My Government is proud to record the assessment of a recent report by the Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development (O.E.C.D.) which showed Toronto to have the cleanest environment of any heavily industrialized city in the western world. Our aim must be to ensure that similar impartial assessments at the end of the decade will reflect a high overall level of environmental protection for all residents of Ontario.

The tremendous progress and enviable standards achieved in environmental protection in Ontario have been the result of deliberate government policy and the legislative decisions of this House. Over the past two decades, we have been eminently successful as a Province in establishing effective municipal water and sewage treatment programs, while addressing the significant challenge resulting from the introduction of new complex chemical compounds which we have found in our ecosystem.

A strong foundation in our efforts to control these chemicals and make them safe is the efficient environmental laboratory facilities established and operated by the Government. These operations are consistently developing new techniques for alert and analysis systems to detect and render harmless the increasing variety of new chemicals being introduced.

As a special initiative, a Hazardous Contaminants Co-ordinating Unit will be established in the Ministry of the Environment to co-ordinate and expand research into the transport, storage, environmental effects and possible health implications of contaminants which may be present on land, in water or in the air.

The Province will also develop a major demonstration project in glass separation and recycling to serve as a model for community-based recycling initiatives in the 1980s. The details of this undertaking will be announced this spring.

Educational resource programs developed by TV-Ontario and the Ministry of Education will seek to broaden the sensitivity of present and future generations to all aspects of the environment in which we live.

A comprehensive strategy proposal is being prepared to be transmitted to the Federal Government, in the continuing efforts with Environment Canada and the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency to establish a North American agreement and abatement program to deal with acid rain.

Government assistance to Ontario's pulp and paper industry will maintain a high priority on a balance between environmental and economic considerations. Incentives will continue to apply to essential pollution abatement projects and to support needed modernization and plant upgrading.

Much valuable experience has been gained from the application of the 1975 Environmental Assessment Act to appropriate projects of Provincial agencies. This has proven to be a constructive initial step toward applying environmental assessments to all major proposals. In keeping with the Government's commitment, and following extensive consultation with municipalities through the Provincial-Municipal Liaison Committee, the Act will be extended to environmentally significant municipal projects. The necessary regulations will come into effect shortly.

Measures will also be proposed to streamline the hearing procedures of the Ontario Municipal Board and the Environmental Assessment Board. The new procedures will eliminate duplication and delay by allowing a transfer of jurisdiction between these two bodies on critical environmental and land use issues.

Land use planning, purposefully directed to the productive use of Ontario's vast land resources, is of significant import to the assurance of a secure future, and particularly so in respect of our capacity for food production.

The Government is committed to increasing Ontario's agricultural productivity, and will take appropriate measures, while allowing for sufficient flexibility in farm practices, to enable farmers to modify or expand operations, to maintain viable farm enterprises and meet future food requirements.

In the Ontario of the '80s, food production and distribution rank no less than energy as vital factors in maintaining our economic well-being and in sustaining our competitive economic advantages, and must be recognized by all Ontarians as strategic development tools for the benefit of present and future generations.

Because of the strategic nature of the agricultural resource, an up-to-date inventory of land ownership must be maintained at all times. Legislation providing for the monitoring of foreign ownership of agricultural land will be presented this Session.

As a firm foundation for the '80s, Ontario will commence a series of initiatives to strengthen our position as the foremost agricultural producing province in Canada. The Province will establish an Agricultural Energy Management Resource Centre for research and demonstration relating specifically to energy conservation on the farm and effective energy management throughout the agricultural sector.

The Government will also establish a Resource Centre for increased agricultural productivity. It will place particular emphasis on research and technology transfer programs in soil management, erosion control, drainage and water quality. More funds will be made available to farmers for programs that are central to the rehabilitation and preservation of productive land, such as tile drainage.

A special beef producers' financial protection fund will be created, in co-operation with producers, dealers and the meat packing industry, to bring to this key area of the agricultural sector similar protections now afforded to farmers in other areas of production.

Un collège de technologie agricole de langue française sera fondé à Alfred dans l'Est de l'Ontario pour donner aux jeunes fermiers francophones de meilleures possibilités de carrière dans la collectivité agricole de la province.

With the use of modern technology to advance agricultural productivity, rural and small town Ontario will turn increasingly to other activities to maintain their viability. Our small towns are, and must remain, a vibrant option for the people of Ontario. As a vital part of our heritage and an important part of our future, they must continue to attract and retain their population. This will depend heavily on availability of economic opportunity. Such opportunities will flow from carefully developed initiatives in areas related to forestry, tourism, recreation, small business and agricultural support enterprises.

Much of this activity will be financed from the Employment Development Fund, which, through the beginning of the decade, will continue to emphasize small town location among the various criteria in its incentive measures.

As well, the Province will move on measures to expand The Woodlands Improvement Act, to assist hardwood, sawmill and local small town pulp and wood industries.

Ontario's citizens, rural and urban, have every right to believe that government will preserve the kind of balance that sees economic and industrial activity, not as an end in itself, but as a means for achieving and maintaining the human and social well-being we expect. By the same token, social and community values must be basic to ensuring the kind of economic development best suited to the people in our society.

The '80s will, of necessity, be a time of greater self-reliance, more preventive rather than remedial expenditure, and a period of renewed importance for the structures of the family and the community. The challenge of social policy will be one of ensuring that, through greater community and individual responsibility, cost-efficiency and innovation, real and changing needs are effectively met. Creative use of existing resources will be crucial, in the years ahead, in protecting and enhancing the standards already achieved.

Our health, education and community services play a critical part in the quality of life Ontarians enjoy. Provision of these services at the highest level of excellence and suitability is an important commitment of government in Ontario for this decade.

The health care delivery system from which Ontarians continue to benefit must be, in ten years' time, as it is today, one of the most comprehensive, professional and well developed in the world. It will continue to be a system characterized by excellence and providing protection for the population as a whole. As well, it will need to have sufficient flexibility to allow it to react to the changing conditions that it will undoubtedly encounter.

Over the next several years, the need to continue adjusting services to provide for increasing long-term care will be particularly important. At the same time, redeployment of resources will be gradual and sensitive to other needs as they occur. An additional 600 nursing home beds will be approved this year to achieve more effective use of our active treatment facilities. Special efforts will be made to extend chronic home care services throughout the province over the next two years.

In Northern Ontario, medical and paramedical programs, as well as established air and land ambulance services, will be enhanced by a new jet air-ambulance and helicopter ambulance service, serving both the Northeast and the Northwest, as a joint initiative of the Ministry of Health and the Ministry of Northern Affairs.

London will be used as a helicopter ambulance referral centre serving Southwestern Ontario.

Further, the Government will extend medical communications to connect hospitals in smaller centres, via televised systems, to regional referral hospitals. This will enable doctors to consult, at short notice if required, with colleagues and specialists about particular patients.

The Government will dedicate substantial proceeds from the Provincial Lottery, over the next five years, to maintain and support the high quality of research work in health, the environment and other essential fields.

Individual responsibility must play an important part in the long-term health of Ontarians in the '80s, and will be encouraged by new approaches in promoting positive health through nutrition, non-smoking, alcohol moderation, physical fitness and similar activities. Target groups will include schools, businesses and community and service organizations. In addition, it is expected that a recently commissioned province-wide review of amateur sport and recreation will make an important contribution to the promotion of greater participation in such leisure-time activities.

In the educational sphere, the challenge to government, teachers, local school boards and parents will be to continue the emphasis on elementary and secondary school standards to maintain a firm dedication to excellence and achievement founded on a basic, solid core curriculum. The Province's commitment in this regard remains fundamental to a view which places education at the centre of community values, social progress and stability.

Legislation will be enacted at this Session to make local school boards responsible for the provision of special education for students who require such attention. The program will be phased in over a five-year period, beginning in the 1980-81 school year.

At the post-secondary level, our universities and colleges of applied arts and technology face a challenge in the '80s to serve a society with ever-changing demands. That challenge will offer significant opportunities for education in terms of industry, culture and other needs of the adult population. Specifically, changing population trends and broadening perspectives on continuing education and skills development will provide particular focus for Ontario post secondary education in the 1980s.

Our well developed community college system, with its tradition of adapting programs and curriculum to meet local needs, makes us superbly equipped to compete in the education technology market beyond our borders. Encouraged by the success of the colleges in this area and the ready involvement of business and educational organizations, Ontario will establish a Crown Agency to mobilize the Province's resources in support of these endeavours.

The Agency will offer expertise and assistance in the development of educational and training components of private sector tenders on international projects, the identification and support of such projects, and the contracting provisions for delivery of services to client organizations or countries. Close co-operation will be maintained with the trade development activities of the Ministry of Industry and Tourism.

There are also significant economic benefits which derive from what might be termed our cultural industries. Special emphasis will be placed on improving the economic stability of the arts and culture in Ontario and on achieving broader exposure for them in the marketplace. Criteria for the Small Business Development Corporations will be extended to include the book publishing industry as an eligible area of investment.

The influence of communications technology on cultural development offers significant opportunity over the next decade. The broadening of television and satellite facilities will bring Ontario tremendous export and growth opportunities.

Through utilization of direct broadcast satellite facilities, the Government will seek to increase TV-Ontario reception throughout the province. The network will continue to play an important role in strengthening the cultural and identity fibres that hold our province-wide community together, while further consolidating the substantial market it has gained in other jurisdictions for its superb English and French-language programming.

More than ever before, education, in the Ontario of the '80s, must reach out in its broadest sense and beyond the first 18 or 25 years of our lives. For the youngest and oldest of our citizens, our educational and cultural systems must provide adequate and fulfilling opportunities for growth, training, upgrading and intellectual achievement.

Community services are a particular area in which the '80s will be a time for carefully targeted, flexible programs, serving those in most genuine need, while shifting to meet changing priorities.

My Ministers believe that personal, family and community responsibility are basic to the direction and welfare of any free society. Limiting the role of large institutions, supporting the family, encouraging independence, fostering volunteer community solutions to community social problems—these are the appropriate roles for government in the '80s.

A series of pilot projects to put unneeded educational facilities to other community uses, and involving the development of demonstration programs for senior citizens and young people in mutually beneficial community projects, will be developed as a firm foundation for opportunities in the coming years.

Further specific measures to advance financial security for senior citizens, in fulfillment of Government commitments, will be presented in the Budget.

Amendments to the Ontario Human Rights Code will be introduced, in consultation with community organizations, to ensure that handicapped people in our society are provided with opportunities and services that most of our citizens take for granted. Other provisions to the Code will also be introduced.

Group home and community living accommodation for the handicapped and mentally retarded will be increased over the next decade, continuing the steady integration into the community of those who are most in need of the stability and rewards of active community life.

In response to rising municipal concerns over the costs of participating in social housing programs, my government proposes to eliminate the need for municipal cost-sharing in rent-geared-to-income housing, effective APRIL 1ST. This will save Ontario municipalities approximately twenty million dollars this year.

New initiatives will be taken to help single mothers on social assistance prepare for and obtain meaningful and secure employment, as a means to future self-reliance and to ensuring financial and personal independence beyond their working years.

While Federal Government co-operation is essential if a full program is to move ahead rapidly, some initial steps have already been taken, such as the introduction of a work incentive program. This Session, the Ontario Government will introduce additional initiatives, including improvements with respect to support payments, expansion of counselling and assessment services and the development of employment projects, to provide increased opportunities for single mothers who wish to become self-supporting.

The Government has moved steadily ahead with the development of integrated children's services. The new decade will see special programs to direct funds to prevent abuses and difficulties which force the community to intervene to protect the rights of children.

Additional provisions to The Children's Law Reform Act, governing child custody and access proceedings, will be enacted at this Session. The legislation, which was given first reading last December, is firmly based on the principle that the best interests of the child should be the focus of legal proceedings in family disputes over custody.

Since the spring of 1979, the Government of Ontario has been conducting a review of the impact of population changes on every aspect of its operations. This will result in the release of a publication, this spring, on Demographic Policy Issues for the decade.

The peace and lawfulness of our communities and the individual rights and freedom of all Ontarians throughout the '80s will continue to depend largely on the effective enforcement of our laws and maintenance of an orderly society. The administration of justice, based, as it must be, on law and order and on equality before the courts, must also incorporate certain key principles in the broad public interest, among them access to the law and to legal institutions, simplicity and, where appropriate, reform.

The reform of procedures in the civil courts will include an important pilot project, to be called the Provincial Court (Civil Division), aimed at broadening citizen access to the justice system in cases involving small civil claims.

New legislation will be presented to simplify a client's right for impartial review of a solicitor's fees, where they are thought to be excessive.

Justice for the victims of crime will be a particular priority in the administration of the justice system. In recent years, in both institutional and community programs, emphasis has been placed on requiring offenders to accept responsibility for their offences by paying back the victims of their crimes, or society generally. Many of these initiatives, such as victim-reconciliation, restitution and community service orders, by which offenders do work in the community, are being increasingly successful.

The continuation of these activities will be supported by a stepped-up program for correctional institutions to attain greater self-sufficiency and make a broader material contribution to the community around them, as important elements of a system that would be truly remedial.

The successful evacuation of Mississauga, last fall, was a tribute to the people of that community, police, fire, civil defence, health, and other public servants of the municipalities and the Province. The experience reminds us, however, that complex societies will require contingency planning on the part of all such agencies, to protect life and property in the event of similar emergencies in the future.

The Province will therefore commission the preparation of a consolidated report and critical review of the full details of all that transpired in Mississauga, to obtain instruction that would be helpful in any future such incidents and to assist other jurisdictions, in Ontario, Canada, and throughout the world, in their own contingency planning.

Exercises and programs of instruction to increase Provincial preparedness will be made available to all municipal and regional police, fire, environment and safety officials.

Legislation will be reintroduced for a pilot project in Metropolitan Toronto to provide a more satisfactory process for citizens' complaints concerning police conduct.

My Government believes that improved communications between our institutions and the citizens they serve can contribute much toward achieving our goals for Ontario through the '80s. Greater openness in the administration of government itself and increased access to government by the citizen are fundamentally important.

The completion of the work of the Royal Commission on Freedom of Information and Individual Privacy is expected this spring. The Minister responsible for Regulatory Reform and Freedom of Information will prepare a government implementation program following receipt and study of the report.

The Government will release shortly the second report of the Agencies Review Committee, which will outline an integrated process for the management and control of special-purpose bodies. Part of this process will call for "sunset" provisions for all advisory agencies on a precise date, pending a decision, based on their individual merits, to reactivate them.

As part of the Government's ongoing commitment to share regulatory authority, in appropriate circumstances, with responsible business groups, the Minister of Consumer and Commercial Relations will develop a plan for self-regulation of Ontario's real estate industry. This new program will combine a high level of professional capability to serve the public with rigorous protection of the industry's customers.

Additional investment and lending powers and increased self-regulatory responsibility will be extended to the Credit Union movement.

Major attention is being given to statute revision and codification of laws and regulations, using the most advanced computerized information retrieval techniques.

The Government is also taking steps to provide functional phone book listings, backed up by free telephone access to government offices across Ontario, as part of its overall efforts to increase public access to government services.

In the wider perspective, however, the Government's effectiveness will be measured not only in terms of its ability to communicate with its citizens and its overall effectiveness in the management of their affairs, but also in the capacity to reach out beyond Ontario's boundaries to help secure the future of our nation.

The 1980s will require leadership from Ontario in the reshaping of the Canadian Confederation and the strengthening of English-French relationships throughout Canada.

For its part, within Ontario, the Government will pursue steady and responsible progress in the provision of French-language government services to our French-speaking residents.

In the coming year, the Ministry of the Attorney General will designate certain Small Claims Courts for bilingual trials, as well as continue the development of French-language court services for criminal cases, family matters and minor offences. This initiative in the Civil Court, to which citizens have easiest and most frequent access, is a major step in the field of bilingual civil trials, as part of the orderly development of French-language court services provided for by recent Judicature Act amendments.

A change in court practice will enable Surrogate Courts in counties and districts designated under The Judicature Act to grant letters probate, without a translation, of wills made in the French language.

The Province of Ontario will continue to work for the entrenchment in a new Constitution of guaranteed education rights, in their own language, to French and English-speaking minorities throughout Canada.

Our commitment to the future of Ontario and Canada is firm. The recent restructuring of the Ontario Advisory Council on Multiculturalism and Citizenship is meant to stress clearly that Ontario society, enriched as it is by cultural diversity, shares a strong and unifying pride in Canadian citizenship, its privileges and responsibilities.

The promise of the next decade must not be squandered through interprovincial or federal/provincial friction, which would do nothing but profoundly disappoint Canadians everywhere. While Ontario continues to reject such extreme solutions as are offered in the proposal for sovereignty-association, it is clear that there is a growing consensus in Canada on the types of changes required to refashion our Constitution and make it a living instrument, capable of pulling together the diverse people, languages and regions of this great country.

Ontario will continue to give this crucial issue a high priority, and will demonstrate, in the months to come, that the special needs of all Canadians, whether in the East or the West, can indeed be accommodated within the framework of a strong Canada, fully capable of meeting all the challenges that lie ahead.

The Members of this Assembly will be afforded the full opportunity of a wide-ranging debate in this House on the future of Confederation, so that the views of the elected representatives of this Province can be clearly heard on the many important issues.

This debate will allow for constructive and thorough examination of our governmental institutions and practices, our fundamental rights, the distribution of powers, the patriation of our Constitution and the streamlining of government services at all levels so that fairness, efficiency, and accountability become the by-words of essential services to Canadians everywhere.

Honourable Members, the promise and opportunity of the '80s will require Canadians throughout Canada to resolve to make maximum use of our political, economic and social resources to shape a decade of security and achievement.

In Ontario, our continued prosperity can best be realized through self-reliance, hard work, initiative and innovation, and responsibility to our fellow citizens. Government and the private sector must work carefully to ensure our quality of life and the economic opportunity and social stability it provides.

Ontario is a Province where there is no limit to the kind of achievement, progress and security our people can earn and enjoy. We must, therefore, take the courageous decisions necessary now to preserve that overwhelming opportunity for all our people. From all the Members of this Parliament the people of Ontario deserve no less.

May Divine Providence guide your deliberations.

God bless the Queen and Canada.

The motion for adoption of the Committees' Report on Private Members' Resolutions having been put was carried and the Report was adopted as follows:—

Your Committee has reviewed the practice of amending Private Members' Resolutions.

Private Members' opportunities for presenting their views to the House for debate are very limited. In the Committee's view, it is undesirable for amendments to a Private Member's Resolution to shift the entire focus of the debate away from the original idea proposed by the mover of the resolution.

The Committee therefore recommends that a new section be added to Standing Order 64, to read:

No amendment may be made to a motion under this Standing Order.

The motion for adoption of the Committees' Report on Private Members' Public Bills having been put was carried and the Report was adopted as follows:—

Your Committee has considered the matter of referring Private Members' Public Bills to committee and recommends as follows:

That a new section be added to Standing Order 64 to read:

Notwithstanding Standing Order 56(c), Private Members' Public Bills given second reading shall stand referred to the Committee of the Whole House, unless referred to a Standing or Select Committee by a majority of the House.

Mr. Smith (Hamilton West) moved, seconded by Mr. Nixon,

That the Motion for an Address in Reply to the Speech of the Honourable the Lieutenant Governor now before the House be amended by adding thereto the following words:—

The Assembly, however, regrets that the Speech again reflects a lack of government initiative, leadership and policy adequate to the needs and aspirations of the people of Ontario at this time and for the next decade, and specifically condemns the government for failing to present the Assembly with programs which will:

- restore economic growth and prosperity after a decade of decline in the 1970's;
- protect the people of Ontario from escalating high interest rates on residential mortgages, small business loans and farmer loans;
- establish a firm, fair revenue-sharing agreement with municipalities and school boards;
- reverse the ongoing erosion of Ontario's health care system;
- develop the talents and skills of young people for the opportunities which exist in industry and commerce;

—protect the environment from dangerous, wasteful and unnecessary pollution; and —lessen this province’s dependence upon ever-more expensive oil by developing alternate energy sources at competitive costs and by introducing comprehensive conservation programs.

- develop the talents and skills of young people for the opportunities which exist in industry and commerce;

Mr. Speaker then addressed the House as follows:—

Mr. Isaacs, the Member for Wentworth, earlier today referred to an article in the Hamilton Spectator on Wednesday, April 16, respecting leg-hold traps and asked me to rule as to whether or not his privileges as a Member of the Legislature had been impugned.

I have read the article carefully and am unable to find any reference to the Member which is even uncomplimentary let alone a breach of his privilege. I assume the Member is referring to the quotation from the conservation officer, as follows:

"I'm concerned that a wave of anti-trapping sentiment may develop where people will think they have the right to interfere with traps," he said.

"Ninety-nine per cent of the traps in use are legally set, but if the public sees that it's all right for an MLA to show these traps, they'll get the idea of removing them the next time they see one."

The only recognized privilege which could be involved in a newspaper article such as this, is the privilege of the Members to Fair Report by the media. I cannot see that this has been breached in any way, particularly as the article made it abundantly clear that the Member had received the trap from the SPCA.

The Order of the Day for resuming the Adjourned Debate on the motion That this House approves in general the Budgetary policy of the Government, having been read,

The debate was resumed, and, after some time,

Mr. Peterson moved, seconded by Mr. Nixon,

That all of the words after "That" be struck out and the following be substituted therefore:—

this House finds that this government's failure to implement an economic strategy has contributed significantly to the economic decline of Ontario. It criticizes the government for a decade of irresponsible spending practices and high levels of public debt. It condemns the government for giving public monies to companies that have no need of such grants, especially without guarantees of important benefit to Ontario in terms of job or wealth creation. It indicts the government for its failure to introduce programmes to ameliorate record-high levels of unemployment, especially among our young people. It deplores the fact that, in provision of additional assistance to senior citizens, the government has chosen to do so in an inequitable manner, giving less to those most in need.

And further, this House finds that the government lacks the ability and the leadership to respond to the challenges facing Ontario. It has failed to provide policies to support research and development activities, to assist and encourage Canadian-owned enterprises, to train our young people to meet the skilled manpower needs of industry, to promote conservation programmes, and alternative sources of energy.

For all these reasons, this House declares it has no confidence in this government.

On motion by Mr. Laughren,

Ordered, That the debate be adjourned.

The following Bills were read the third time and were passed:—

Your committee has considered the terms of reference given it by Order of the House on June 28, 1977. This Order limits the Committee to reviewing only those agencies for which annual reports are tabled in the House. It is the Committee's view that this is an artificial and needlessly restrictive limitation.

Therefore, in order to perform more effectively its task of reviewing agencies for possible overlapping and redundancy, the Committee recommends that:

The Committee's Order of Reference of June 28, 1977, be amended by striking out the words, "particular Boards, Agencies and Commissions, for which annual reports have been tabled in the House and referred to it, and the Committee may review the operation of these bodies as it selects", and substituting therefor the following words, "all Boards, Agencies and Commissions to which the Lieutenant Governor in Council makes some or all of the appointments and all corporations in which the Crown in right of Ontario is a majority shareholder. Such reviews shall be made".

ment to Committee's order of Reference, having been read, the motion for adoption of the Report was carried and the Report was adopted, as follows:—

Your committee has considered the terms of reference given it by Order of the House on June 28, 1977. The Committee's Order of Reference of June 28, 1977, be amended by striking out the words, "particular Boards, Agencies and Commissions, for which annual reports have been tabled in the House and referred to it, and the Committee may review the operation of these bodies as it selects", and substituting therefor the following words, "all Boards, Agencies and Commissions to which the Lieutenant Governor in Council makes some or all of the appointments and all corporations in which the Crown in right of Ontario is a majority shareholder. Such reviews shall be made".

EIGHTY-FIFTH DAY

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 3RD, 1980

PRAYERS

2.00 O'CLOCK P.M.

Mr. Speaker addressed the House as follows:—

On Thursday last, October 30, Mr. Roy, the Member for Ottawa East, raised what he at least alleged to consider a matter of privilege in that he had received in his electoral district a copy of what he considered to be political propaganda by the Minister of Culture and Recreation.

An examination of the material indicated that it was in fact Mr. Baetz' Constituency Newsletter which, of course, all Members are entitled to distribute. Further investigation indicates that such mail is distributed by the postmen in their "walks". These "walks" of course have nothing to do with the boundaries of electoral districts and it is usually necessary to furnish this material to a number of postmen whose walks may be wholly or partly within a given electoral district. In this way a newsletter such as that in question may very well be distributed outside the bounds of the Member's electoral district and in fact I recall the Minister saying last Thursday that he very often receives material from the neighbouring electoral districts including that of the Member for Ottawa East.

It is obvious therefore that no privilege of the House has been breached and no action is required of me.

EIGHTY-SIXTH DAY

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 4TH, 1980

PRAYERS

2.00 O'CLOCK P.M.

Mr. Speaker addressed the House as follows:—

On Monday, October 27th, and again yesterday, Mr. Isaacs, the Member for Wentworth, raised what he deemed to be a matter of privilege with respect to answers by the Minister of the Environment to questions tabled on October 9th and 10th.

I gathered his main point was that in answering his question No. 275, tabled on October 9th, the Minister tabled all material to the date of the question, which material, I may say, is very voluminous. As I understand it, Mr. Isaacs suggests that there was a further letter dated October 16th which was not included. It is not my obligation to research the Minister's answers and decide whether or not he should have included additional material. That is the Minister's prerogative, who, as I have already pointed out, may answer as he sees fit or not at all.

I therefore find no evidence that any of the recognized privileges of Members of the House have been in fact breached by the Minister's answer. If the Member is dissatisfied or thinks that further material should be forthcoming he may table another question.

2.00 O'CLOCK P.M.

Ministers' Statements and Question Period to 3.12 p.m.

On December 1st the Member for Oshawa arose on a question of privilege concerning the opening of his mail. I investigated the matter and on December 2nd advised the House that the Member's mail was not tampered with by any agent of this House. The letter in question was from an inmate of a Federal penitentiary and I had been advised by the Solicitor General for Canada that mail addressed to Members of Provincial legislatures was still subject to scrutiny and opening. I am now advised by the Federal Minister as follows: Under section 8A (3) of the Directors of the Canadian Penitentiary Service Commissioners Directive No. 219 "Members of the Provincial Legislatures are included among those to whom inmates can forward correspondence unopened. In exceptional cases, however, where institutional staff suspect contraband in such privileged correspondence, it may be opened after the Commissioner has given his approval".

There may have been a breach of this directive but I regret that I have no ability to enforce a Federal directive. I can only suggest that the Honourable Member for Oshawa raise the matter with the Solicitor General for Canada.

The member for Oakwood said in part "has the Premier talked to the federal Minister of Immigration? If he has, what was the response? If he has not, does he realize he is allowing Stuart-come-lately to exploit the issue for political purposes".

As all members know there is very little that goes on in this Chamber that is not of some political significance but to suggest that the words or the initiative of the member for Hamilton West are less than honourable in the Italian Earthquake tragedy is unbecoming any member of this House.

I would therefore ask the member for Oakwood to withdraw the remark without equivocation.

The member for Oakwood (Mr. Grande) then withdrew his remarks.

The Order of the Day for resuming the Adjourned Debate on the amendment to the motion, That this House approves in general the Budgetary policy of the Government, having been read,

The Debate was resumed, and, after some time,

The amendment to the motion as follows:—

That all of the words after “That” be struck out and the following be substituted therefore:—

this House finds that this government’s failure to implement an economic strategy has contributed significantly to the economic decline of Ontario. It criticizes the government for a decade of irresponsible spending practices and high levels of public debt. It condemns the government for giving public monies to companies that have no need of such grants, especially without guarantees of important benefit to Ontario in terms of job or wealth creation. It indicts the government for its failure to introduce programmes to ameliorate record-high levels of unemployment, especially among our young people. It deplores the fact that, in provision of additional assistance to senior citizens, the government has chosen to do so in an inequitable manner, giving less to those most in need.

And further, this House finds that the government lacks the ability and the leadership to respond to the challenges facing Ontario. It has failed to provide policies to support research and development activities, to assist and encourage Canadian-owned enterprises, to train our young people to meet the skilled manpower needs of industry, to promote conservation programmes, and alternative sources of energy.

For all these reasons, this House declares it has no confidence in this government.

“The Honourable the Lieutenant Governor doth thank Her Majesty’s dutiful and loyal Subjects, accept their benevolence and assent to this Bill in Her Majesty’s name,”

The Honourable the Lieutenant Governor was then pleased to deliver the following gracious speech:—

Mr. Speaker and Members of the Legislative Assembly:

It is a pleasure to address you at the official closing of the Fourth Session of Ontario’s Thirty-first Parliament and, in so doing, to give due recognition to the work and achievements of the past nine months.

It has been a period in which government activity throughout our nation and, in varying degrees, the daily lives of all Canadians have been centred on problems of Constitutional reform.

For our part, as a Province, we have been able to demonstrate a fair measure of accord, on all sides of this House, on the basic convictions and principles underlying the current national debate. These convictions, we venture to suggest, reflect the opinion and sentiment of the vast majority of the people of Ontario. The Government of Ontario is dedicated to pursuing all the means possible which it feels will make a positive contribution to a harmonious resolution of the prevailing difficult situation.

Pendant toute cette session, les problèmes de réforme constitutionnelle ont été au centre de l'activité gouvernementale dans tout le pays et, à des degrés divers, de la vie quotidienne de tous les Canadiens.

Dans la province, nous avons montré pour notre part que nous étions en grande partie d'accord, quelle que soit notre place à l'Assemblée, sur les convictions et les principes qui sont à la base du débat national actuel. Nous pensons pouvoir affirmer que ces convictions reflètent les opinions et les sentiments de la vaste majorité des résidents de l'Ontario. Le gouvernement de l'Ontario est fermement décidé à continuer d'utiliser tous les moyens qui lui semblent susceptibles de contribuer de façon positive à la solution harmonieuse de la difficile situation actuelle.

This Legislature, in an unprecedented week-long debate on Confederation before the Quebec referendum last May, passed a unanimous resolution on a number of basic principles. These included support of full negotiation of a new Constitution, opposition to the negotiation of "sovereignty-association", and an appeal to all Quebecers to join in building a national Constitution for Canada.

In subsequent weeks and months, with increasing manifestations of discontent among Western Canadians, the scene may have shifted somewhat from Quebec but, in our view, the same principles apply. They remain imperative to building the future of our nation—a task to which the Province of Ontario is fully committed.

The economic difficulties facing our Province, among others, are in great measure linked to the larger national issues, in particular as they affect determinations about Canada's energy future.

Ontario continues to emphasize the need for economic initiatives that derive from responsible leadership at the national level, and which seek to secure the co-operation of all regions of Canada. Much remained lacking, in this regard, in the recent Federal budget.

As a result, Ontario, last month, introduced selected tax-relief initiatives to give immediate stimulus to the province's economy, and embarked on a realignment of programs for industrial and economic development over the next five years. These measures support and enhance the provisions of the Provincial budget outline, in April, of the current year's economic and fiscal program, in which protection against tax increases was the key factor.

Government assistance to industry has become an increasing necessity, as a means of creating new private sector jobs and protecting existing ones in a slow economy. This was one of the objectives of the Employment Development Fund which formed part of the Government's overall economic plan last year.

Since then, the Fund, which is now giving way to a more dynamic Industrial Leadership and Development initiative, will have generated more than $3.5 billion in private sector investments in Ontario industry, on the basis of some $300 million in direct Provincial Government aid. A potential 19,000 new jobs will result from these investments.

The Employment Development Fund has been the source of vital assistance particularly to the pulp and paper industry, providing incentives for investments in mill modernization, pollution abatement and energy conservation and generation. This assistance has helped to assure the long-term security of 20,000 mill working and logging jobs, mainly in Northern Ontario.

The most serious industrial situation the Province has faced this year has arisen from the crisis in the North American automobile industry, which is having to come to grips with the need to adapt to meet energy efficiency and conservation demands. A key role has fallen to governments on both sides of the border to help turn the industry around and secure its future. Automobile and auto parts manufacturers alike project substantial capital investments in Ontario over the next few years as these major adjustments are made.

At the same time, it is recognized that research and development must play a stronger roll than ever, in terms of automobile production, as well as for new market opportunities. The Ontario Government has ensured that initiatives to assist both segments of the industry have included this factor. In May, the Province reached an agreement offering Chrysler Canada Ltd. a $10 million grant toward a research and development facility in Windsor, and also announced plans for an Autoparts Technical Centre at the Ontario Research Foundation.

Significant employee protection measures have been considered, during this Session, through a five-point program to deal with employment adjustment problems arising from manufacturing plant closures. These additional provisions, covering such matters as pensions, termination entitlement and fringe benefits, have been thoroughly examined by members of this Legislature and the process will continue in the coming months.

Taking into account provisions for manpower adjustment committees, and the work of the new Select Committee on Plant Shutdowns and Employee Adjustment, an overall assurance of fair treatment and assistance can be developed for employees who may be faced with this particular hardship.

The Ontario Youth Employment Program, begun in 1977, was continued this year. Through government subsidies of hourly wage rates for employment in businesses and on farms, some 50,000 jobs were created for young people between May and October.

In the spring, the Government established a $25 million Farm Interest Assistance Program to help the farming industry, which was especially hard pressed during a period of high interest rates, and in the face of a need for short-term working capital to maintain production.

As well, legislation has since been enacted, under a new Non-resident Agricultural Land Interests Registration Act, as a means of monitoring agricultural land ownership in Ontario and to help protect this vital industry.

Among the most important plans of action presented during the Session is the comprehensive energy program, announced in the House on October 10th, which forecasts expenditure needs of $165 million for a number of specific projects over the next 10 years, in the drive to reduce our dependence on crude oil.

In recent years, the effects of steeper increases in energy costs have been felt even more in rural areas, where the cost of electric power is shared by fewer people and is, therefore, much higher on average than in urban areas. The Government has made a commitment to alleviate the burden on customers who pay excessive rates by establishing a system of direct discounts in the next fiscal year, pending moves by Ontario Hydro to eliminate the undue differential.

It remains a fundamental policy of the Government, and one which it gives particularly high priority in the existing economic climate, to maintain the quality and variety of the many social programs dedicated to the needs of all Ontarians.

Substantial increases in Provincial assistance to senior citizens were introduced in the Ontario Budget in April. In implementing the higher benefits, a new program was put into effect, which removes the delayed payment of the former tax credit system and replaces it with payment of direct grants, to offset property taxes and help pensioners cope better with rising costs.

Amendments to The Education Act place a legal responsibility on the publicly supported school system for the education of all Ontario students, thus entrenching in law the duty of school boards to include appropriate special education provisions, and services for exceptional children, in their programs.

The right to operate schools for trainable retarded children has been extended to Roman Catholic separate school boards.

A joint initiative relating to developmental programs for mentally retarded people in nursing homes and homes for special care has been launched by the Ministries of Health, Education and Community and Social Services. The 4-year project will use interdisciplinary assessment teams, and supporting consultative resources, to determine the needs of some 3,000 clients on an individual basis, to be followed up by individual training and treatment plans.

General health expenditures were increased by approximately 12 per cent in this fiscal year. Shorter-term priorities, such as an expansion of services in certain categories of care, have been provided for within a framework of continued careful planning for the long-term health care needs of the population.

The health and safety of workers in hazardous occupations, and attendant risks to the safety of the public at large have been among the matters of foremost concern to the Government throughout the Session.

A Royal Commission was appointed, in April, to examine health and safety matters relating to the use of asbestos in Ontario.

A disturbing increase in the number of accidents and fatalities in the mining industry, in the first half of the year, led to the establishment of a joint Federal-Provincial Industrial Inquiry Commission, in July. The joint undertaking makes possible the investigation of the entire Ontario mining industry, by enabling the inclusion of uranium mines, which are within the Federal Government's jurisdiction.

In the administration of government, ongoing steps to improve services to the public, such as the Customer Service and Regulatory Reform programs, are being reinforced by a third initiative of considerable importance. Following a 3-year study, the final report of the Commission on Freedom of Information and Individual Privacy was published this fall. An undertaking has since been given to this House for the introduction of legislation in response to the report. A number of complementary, non-legislative measures are already being implemented, and policy guidelines have been issued to civil servants, in the spirit of the recommendations.

Major reforms, comprising, in effect, a new Human Rights Code for Ontario, have been introduced. The revisions are the most extensive since the Code, the first in Canada, was enacted 18 years ago. The Bill proposes to extend coverage against discrimination to new groups or classes of persons. Protection is also offered against certain types of conduct, which were not previously prohibited. Finally, among various administrative revisions proposed, the Human Rights Code would be binding on the Crown and would, ultimately, have primacy over all legislation in Ontario.

Honourable Members, the program laid before you at the opening of the Session has been put into effect. Your unstinting efforts in dealing with these and other matters that are the responsibility of government speak well of your devotion to Ontario and her people.

In declaring this Session prorogued, I wish you all a safe return to your families and friends, and the peace and goodwill of the Season.

In our Sovereign's name, I thank you.

The Government House Leader then said:—

Mr. Speaker and Members of the Legislative Assembly:

It is the will and pleasure of the Honourable the Lieutenant Governor that this Legislative Assembly be prorogued and this Legislative Assembly is accordingly prorogued.
